IRELAND WARNED BY BRITAIN

Limit Reached, Lloyd George and Curzon Declare

ADMIT SITUATION IS GRAVE

Premier and Marquis Address
Parliament on Question

LONDON.—(By United Press.)—Lloyd George, in the house of commons, and Marquis Curzon, in the house of lords today told the British parliament that the government had gone the limit in its offers to Ireland.

While Curzon was telling the lords that the government had "gone to the limit" in its offers, Lloyd George reported to the commons that "the government has already said all it has to say in its letters to De Valera."

The premier warned an anxious house that there was great danger of misrepresentations and misunderstandings at the present stage of the Irish negotiations.

GRAVE SITUATION.
"The Irish situation is always full of suspicion," he said. "I have heard no suggestion from any part of the world, save Ireland, that this government had not gone to the very limits of possible concessions in its offers to Ireland. We have offered everything that we possibly could in order to purchase peace and the good will of the Irish people."

"Should our terms be rejected, we will be faced by a graver situation in Ireland than any that has previously confronted us."

FINAL MESSAGE.
"Rejection would unmistakably challenge the authority of the crown and the unity of the empire."

"The British government is sincerely desirous of peace in Ireland."

This was Lloyd George's final message to commons before its adjournment.

In the event of a final rejection of the terms by the Dail Eireann, beyond hope of negotiations, he said that it would be necessary for the executive to consult with commons and secure its approval or disapproval of steps which the government proposed to take.

DUBLIN AWAITING MOVE AT LONDON

DUBLIN.—(By Associated Press.)—The leaders of the Sinn Fein today centered their attention on London, awaiting the expected statement on the Irish negotiations by Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons and the Marquis of Salisbury in the house of lords to the recent invitation by the Marquis of Salisbury for an official outgoing on this subject. Meanwhile the rank and file of the deputies were engaged in committee work on Irish internal affairs.

The fact that the Dail put off discussion of the reply to the British prime minister's peace offer until Monday, as announced yesterday, was interpreted by the Sinn Fein as something, nevertheless, or possibly that some move would be made to induce Ulster to join forces with the south.

TRUCE BREAK SEEN.

These, at least, are the reasons generally accepted here, although there are pessimistically inclined quarters which gave expression to the view that the Dail Eireann was taking advantage of the opportunity to get rid of its necessary business in the open, before a possible ending of the truce. The danger that exists while negotiations were thus being prolonged was again called to attention today by reports from Cork of happenings last night there. Two "black and tans" who were out on a lark, commandeered an automobile belonging to the Irish republican army. Members of the republican army retaliated by kidnapping a divisional inspector of police, and it took all the diplomacy of the liaison officers to get the affair smoothed over.

BACKS HOME RULE

Lloyd George Favors New Policy for the Welsh

LONDON.—(By Associated Press.)—An announcement in favor of Welsh home rule has been made by Premier Lloyd George, says the Liverpool Post today.

The premier, who made the announcement at a dinner of Welsh nationalists pledged himself, according to the newspaper, to support a measure of Welsh devolution if such were agreed upon by the Welsh members of parliament.

The home rule favored by the Welsh nationalists means a greater degree of local self-government.

SECOND MATEWAN BATTLE
TRIAL IN SEPTEMBER

WILLIAMSON, W. Va.—Judge R. D. Bailey, of the Mingo circuit court has instructed that a petit jury be drawn from Pocahontas county to try the second Matewan battle case here in September, it was announced yesterday. Under an act of the last legislature, petit juries may be drawn from one county from another in special cases. The first Matewan trial by a Mingo jury last January resulted in the acquittal of the defendants.

Judge Bailey also has ordered a special term of court for August 22. A special grand jury will investigate recent disorders in the Mingo county at the same time, and if indictments are returned, the cases will be tried immediately, it was said.

U. S. ON TOBACCO

61,859,900-000 Cigarettes Made
During Last Year.

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press.)—Cigarettes numbering 61,859,900,000 were manufactured in the United States last year, the census bureau's annual tobacco report issued today shows. Of that number 15,834,000,000 were exported, leaving about 46,000,000,000 factory made cigarettes for consumption in the United States.

Cigars manufactured numbered 8,723,744,000 and tobacco manufactured, including chewing, smoking and snuff, totaled 418,891,000 pounds.

The year's crop of tobacco amounted to 1,508,061,000 pounds, grown on 1,894,400 acres. Leaf tobacco and tobacco products imported were valued at $98,562,000.

Revenue collected on tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and snuff, amounted to $294,000,000, of which North Carolina contributed $108,417,000; New York $46,663,000; Virginia $20,721,000; Pennsylvania $20,195,000; New Jersey $18,742,000; Ohio $15,154,000, and Missouri $12,319,000.

BRITAIN STANDS
BY JAPANESE

Nation Speaks Out on Renewal of Alliance

LONDON.—(By Associated Press.)—Endorsing the statement of Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons with reference to the Washington conference and the Anglo-Japanese alliance, the London Times in its editorial today, declares:

"Plainly it represented the considered judgment and deep aspirations of the dominion prime ministers and the representatives of India as well as the prime minister and government of Great Britain."

Regarding that statement that disarmament would be easier if preceded by a Pacific understanding, the Times says:

"Both for the United States and Japan, this voice of the British empire, uttered thus for the first time in a matter of incomparable importance, may well have unprecedented authority. It is a new voice in world affairs; or if it is not new, it at least now is newly articulated."

Thru the premier, continues the newspaper, the British peoples "declare their unaltered friendship for Japan and propose to the people of the United States common action to make safe the peace of the world."

The Times asserts that this statement "indicates the debt of honor due by the British peoples to Japan, no less than their sentiment of attachment to a long-held ally."

KENNEDY'S LOVE AFFAIRS TRACED

Defense Undertaking to Uncover
Slain Broker's Life

WRONGED WOMAN HINTED

State Ready to Act on New Evidence,
Prosecution Says

LOS ANGELES.—(By United Press.)—The defense in the Kennedy-Obenchain-Burch murder mystery will contend that John Benton Kennedy was shot by relatives of another woman he is alleged to have wronged, it was learned today.

Ralph Obenchain, divorced husband of Madalynn Obenchain, who came here to defend her when she was jointly held with Arthur C. Burch in connection with the crime, let it be known that he is staking everything on this theory of the written law.

Obenchain sent out a squad of investigators to uncover Kennedy's life in the last four years. It was hinted that some evidence had been uncovered to prove that the broker, while making love to Madalynn, was carrying on affairs with one or more other women.

WITNESS LOCATED

Obenchain was said to have located witnesses to help prove that Kennedy was shot by a man who lay in wait at his bungalow to "get" him and protect a home. The defense theory is that this unknown man seeing Madalynn on a midnight visit to the Kennedy bungalow, mistook her for his own wife or sister and acted instantly on the supposed evidence against Kennedy.

The prospect of a hot fight in court appeared certain today with the announcement that Paul Schenck, noted criminal lawyer, is to aid Obenchain. Schenck gained fame in a personal encounter with District Attorney Woolwine who is leading the prosecution.

Court fans here eagerly awaited their next appearance on opposite sides of the counsel table.

STATE READY TO ACT

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—(By Associated Press.)—Any evidence warranting another arrest will be acted upon promptly, Malcolm McLaren, chief investigator of the district attorney's office, said today in commenting on Ralph R. Obenchain's statement that the man who killed J. Belton Kennedy here August 5, would be in jail by Sunday.

Obenchain, attorney for his former wife, Mrs. Madalynn Obenchain, indicted with Arthur C. Burch for murder in connection with the shooting, has steadily maintained that the innocence of the defendants would be established thru the apprehension of another person.

Mr. McLaren said the only desire of officials was to see the slayer of Kennedy arrested and convicted, but he added that "any theory of the case must provide for Burch and Mrs. Obenchain; the facts show too strong a case against them to be disregarded."

Coincidentally with this statement it was announced by Deputy District Attorney Keyes that the prosecution had examined two new witnesses late yesterday.

Mr. McLaren said that while his office had been working on the theft of an automobile stolen on the night of the murder and later recovered at Santa Monica, he considered the automobile and the thief had been eliminated as a pertinent factor in the case.

It was believed at first that the man might have been one of the two "forerunners" whom Mrs. Obenchain told authorities had brushed by her in the Beverly Glen shortly after the shooting of her fiancé.

BOWLEGGED RANCHMAN HOPES TO LASSO THE PERFECT MAN HUNTER

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—X. Y. Z. of Texas, who admits he is "a little bit bowlegged," is the latest candidate for the hand of Miss Audrey Munson, famous model, who had expressed a wish for a physically perfect man.

The man wrote to Postmaster Kesel as follows:

"The Dallas papers had an article dated Syracuse, saying that Audrey Munson, world-famous artists' model, is looking for a perfect man to be her mate and the father of her family."

"If it is physical perfection she is seeking, I would like to throw my hat in the ring. I am a little bit bowlegged, caused from years in the saddle on a cattle ranch. If Miss Munson is regarded as a perfect woman, would like to know what her measurements are and what she expects her perfect man to measure up to."

"I can rope anything I throw at and if you will kindly permit this letter in her mail, I might rope her, and present you with a broncho pony."

Letters continue to pour into Syracuse postoffice for Miss Munson and local residents are listening for the strains of either the Lorengin wedding march or "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

TOWNS SWEEP AWAY BY FLOOD

Every House In Two New Mexico Villages Is Destroyed by Waters From Cloudburst—Residents Flee to the Hills—Relief Rushed

LAS CRUCES, New Mexico.—(By Associated Press.)—Relief was being rushed today to residents of Hatch, N. M., 38 miles north of here, who fled thinly clad to the hills when a wall of water from a cloudburst flooded the town and destroyed every building in it yesterday.

No loss of life was reported.

The cloudburst struck Santa Teresa, a village in the foothills, two miles west of Hatch, destroying all but one building, the water then rushing down into Hatch, a town of 500 inhabitants.

Today from three to seven feet of water lies in the stricken village.

Officials of the United States reclamation service said there was no way to drain the water off except to dig a deep canal, as the town lies in a basin.

CHANGES IN TAX BILL OFFERED

Amendments Before House Under Five Minute Limitations

FINAL VOTE COMES SATURDAY

Bankers Protest Continuance of Excess Profits

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press.)—Amendments to the tax revision bill were taken up in the house today, several proposed by Republican members of the ways and means committee being given priority in consideration. Under the agreement all amendments will be submitted thru the committee.

Discussion of the amendments was under five minute limitations following the conclusion of general debate late last night. With this limitation, the house expected to work under high pressure in order to dispose of all suggestions before 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when a final vote will be taken.

PROPOSED CHANGES.

Some of the proposed amendments deal with changes in phraseology only, but others propose substantial changes, including one for elimination of the suggested annual license tax of $10 on vendors of soft drinks. Another would require individual taxpayers to pay 12 1/2 percent on profits from the sale of capital assets, if such profits and the taxpayer's net income exceed $29,000, whereas in the bill as reported they would pay 15 percent on above $40,000.

TAX PROTEST.

NEW YORK.—Characterizing the excess profits tax as one of the chief reasons for continued high prices, John S. Drum, president of the American Bankers' Association, has sent to Representative Fordney and Senator Penrose a vigorous protest against its continuance until 1922.

He stated that it was actually not a tax on profits, but a diversion of working capital, which is needed for full development of productive enterprise.

BUSINESS MEN PROTEST.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Association of Commerce today sent a telegram to President Harding and members of congress protesting against "abandonment of the original tax relief program." The message, according to J. R. Noel, president of the association, was sent on behalf of business men of Chicago and the middle west, who felt that the best interests of the country demand adherence to the original program.

The telegram insisted "that the interests of the country demand the repeal of the excess profits tax, as of January 1."

CITY OFFICIALS ENJOY
FISHING; MAYOR GOES TO MICHIGAN SATURDAY

Fishing seems to be the favorite sport of Lima city officials and Mayor F. A. Burkhardt is no exception. Saturday he leaves for his annual vacation, to be spent in the vicinity of Jackson, Mich., he stated Friday. He will be absent from the city for at least a week, he declared.

City Auditor David L. Rupert is already in Michigan, but is doing his angling in Ostego Lake, in the northern part of the state.

PROBABLY "ROCKED" IT
ARKANSAS CITY, Kan.—It cost Mrs. Harold Pack the loss of a diamond ring valued at $500 to take her pet dog "pup" for a motorcar ride.

A stout cord was attached to the dog's collar. When Mrs. Pack entered her car she wrapped the other end of the cord about her hand. As the car approached the Pack's residence the dog leaped from the car, jerking the rope off of Mrs. Pack's hand and, with it, the diamond ring.

The "pup" has been found, but Mrs. Pack is still searching for her diamond ring.

PAIR SEARCHED FOR
STUBENVILLE.—Police of Cleveland and other Ohio cities have been asked to watch for two men and a 15-year-old girl who have been reported kidnapped. The men are said to have appeared at the girl's home late yesterday and forcibly carried her away. One of the men wanted to marry the girl. It is understood.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.
STUBENVILLE.—John Slaughter of Tiltonville, is held here today, charged with first degree murder in connection with the shooting of Mike Ollum last Sunday. Slaughter admitted, police said, he had been drinking and "did not remember shooting anyone."

DECORATES GRAVES OF ALL WAR DEAD

Mrs. Andrew J. Campbell

Since last November this genial looking mother of nine children, three of whom are service men, has visited Arlington National cemetery twice each week to place flowers on the graves of every American soldier killed in the World War who is buried there.

"I can't bear to see one of these boys buried without some sign, some token, that he is not wholly forgotten," says Mrs. Campbell.

GUARDS ADDED

The warning had its effect, but the crowd remained outside the jail nearly an hour and a half, still threatening an attack, while Sheriff Rosenthal, Chief Warden Boland and the three others stood guard with shotguns.

Today more guards were added, and Sheriff Rosenthal said also that he would ask for state troops to help him.

Dies and Gomez were held in $15,000 bail each and Andrews was to be arraigned today.

All three have been identified by Miss Gertrude Butler and William Hildreath as the men who held them up and originally assaulted Miss Butler at Buzzard's Bay, early in the week.

TROOPS ORDERED

BOSTON, Mass.—Ten members of the state police patrol have been ordered to proceed from camp in Framingham to Barnstable, where a crowd early today attempted to take from the jail three prisoners accused of assault upon a white girl.

RAILS ACCUSED OF
TRYING TO DODGE

Fight Develops at Rate Hearing in Columbus.

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press.)—The state public utilities commission's hearing into the reasonableness of freight rates on road building material today slumped down to efforts of the carriers to prove they could not lower rates any more than they have indicated they will, and to a fight on the part of the state and representatives of material interests to show that the proposed reduction is entirely too small.

The proposed decreases, the carriers assert, will approximate 18 percent. Material interests representatives say they will only mean about 9.32 percent cut.

Charges that railroad representatives were trying to dodge questions were made today by Descher W. Waltermire, representing brick interests, cross-examining C. C. McCandlish, Columbus, accountant for the Hocking Valley railroad.

In answer to repeated questions of Waltermire, McCandlish's "I don't know," and "I haven't any figures on that," brought sharp retorts from Waltermire.

"I'm tired of having experts in their line saying they don't know," Waltermire declared to commissioners. The hearing again today was confined mainly to the introduction of statistical detail in regard to earnings and expenses of the roads.

DEMOCRATS INDORSE
HASERODT FOR MAYOR

CLEVELAND.—Party harmony and solidarity caused the Democratic county executive committee last night to indorse the candidacy of Edmund B. Haserodt, former county clerk, for mayor of Cleveland, after four years of political warfare between Haserodt and the committee. The vote was 35 to 1, former Congressman John J. Babka voting against the indorsement, saying he did not believe the party should "give" Haserodt for his bold "for-give" organization in 1917.

CAN'T FIND BERGDOLL

BERNE, Switzerland.—Agents of the American legation here and the Swiss police have been unable to locate Grover Bergdoll, the American draft evader, who was reported to have fled to Switzerland from Germany.

The police have established that if Bergdoll actually did cross the Swiss frontier, he must have done so clandestinely and under an assumed name.

JAIL STORMED IN MASSACHUSETTS

Hundreds of Men, Women Gather to Lynch Three Prisoners

RESULT OF ATTACK ON GIRL

Crowd Temporarily Stopped
When Officers Open Fire

BARNSTABLE, Mass.—(By Associated Press.)—A mob of nearly 200 men and women carrying ropes early today stormed the local jail, threatening to lynch three Cape Verde island negro prisoners charged with highway robbery and criminal assault on a young white woman at Buzzard's Bay.

At 2:30 o'clock this morning 25 automobiles, whose occupants included both women and men, drove up to the jail.

PRISONERS DEMANDED

Others came on foot and together they marched on the jail entrance. They demanded the three negroes, John Dies, Benjamin Gomez and Joseph Andrews, from Sheriff Irving L. Rosenthal.

There were shouts of "let's get them," as the mob approached the brick structure, but when the jail defenders, five men in all, fired in the air, the crowd came to a halt.

The warning had its effect, but the crowd remained outside the jail nearly an hour and a half, still threatening an attack, while Sheriff Rosenthal, Chief Warden Boland and the three others stood guard with shotguns.

Today more guards were added, and Sheriff Rosenthal said also that he would ask for state troops to help him.

AID TO GARLING IS ORDERED

Council Decides to Continue Fight on Gas Company.

WALKS MUST BE CONSTRUCT

Conference Planned to Discuss Grade Crossings.

By a vote of 5 to 3 Thursday night, council authorized Solicitor H. E. Garling to employ counsel to assist in fighting litigation instituted by the Lima Gas Company. Councilmen Reed, Goebel and Brice voted no.

Prior to the taking of the vote, considerable argument occurred as to where council expected to obtain funds for hire of expert legal talent. Attention of council was called to the gas question when James I. Hefner, clerk, read a communication from Emmett R. Curtin, president of the gas company, refusing to accept the rate ordinance passed July 18 and notifying the city of appeal to the public utilities commission.

Councilman Brice moved that the letter be referred to the franchise committee, but his motion was defeated 5 to 3. Councilman Paul Landis then moved that the solicitor be instructed to appear in common pleas court and before the utilities commission in behalf of the city. The motion prevailed. Councilmen Reed, Goebel and Brice voting against it.

WILL HIRE EXPERTS
A motion to instruct Solicitor Garling to employ extra counsel, made by Ellis E. Jones, finally prevailed.

"Where is the money coming from?" demanded Councilman Brice. "The city has gone to considerable expense to employ extra counsel in the past year and no results are visible," Brice said.

Councilman Jones, in reply, stated that he did not know where the money was coming from, but that the city would find it.

Solicitor Garling, said that a sufficient amount is remaining in the appropriation for an assistant counsel.

"I don't see any necessity of your having an assistant in this case," Brice said to Garling. "You drew the ordinance and are familiar with the case."

"That is up to council," replied Garling. "The utilities commission generally hire experts."

President Dempster ruled that further discussions was out of order, as the original question had been answered by the Solicitor. A vote was taken and the motion carried, 5 to 3.

Attention was directed by Councilman Brice to the fact that the service director had ordered many walks laid. He stated that the property holders—people of moderate means—are unable to pay. He introduced a motion to defer construction of walks for one year.

Other members were of the same opinion, but the motion was lost.

LIGHT QUESTION ANNOYS
The question of using money voted to build a light plant, on the boulevard system, was brought up by Earl Robb. It was referred to Solicitor Garling, in writing to numerous legal cases, council found no way to remedy the situation at S. Elizabeth and Berea-st., where intersection is not to be paved.

Recommendation for a light at Allentown-rd and Cole-st., referred to the light committee, drew from Councilman Reed the assertion that nothing can be done. The Ohio Electric is out of arcs, has no contract and won't purchase them, he said.

Baltimore & Ohio, Lake Erie & Western, and Chicago & Erie officials were asked to meet with council August 30, to talk over the grade crossing situation and other matters.

An appropriation for $495 to buy a motorcycle and side car for the police department was halted on its first reading by negative votes.

A. B. Fogel & Son, offered to haul garbage from the city at 50 cents a month per consumer. Collection would be made semi-weekly. No action was taken.

TO HEAR APPEAL LATE
FRIDAY FOR REDUCTION OF PRISONERS' BONDS

Hearing of the habeas corpus proceeding filed in court of appeal in favor of George Donovan and Joe Willis, by Judge S. A. Armstrong, Thursday, was set for 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott, late Thursday, filed a motion in the appellate court, asking that the proceedings be dismissed, because no briefs had been filed in the case.

The action is to secure dismissal of the two men or to have their bonds reduced less than $50,000 upon which they are now being held.

Donovan and Willis were convicted of robbery at the Pett Brothers' farm home, near Bluffton, the night of May 13, last, when $2,000 in liberty bonds and a sum of money was taken.

WILLIAMS DEMAND FOR ARREST COMPLIED WITH

Someone once remarked that booze is peculiar stuff, as it makes one man want to kiss the bartender and another want to whip the barkeep. However, it's seldom that it guides the steps of a man to police headquarters.

Yet, according to police, that's what it did in the case of James Williams, 51, 716 E. Second-st., who appeared at headquarters, Friday afternoon and demanded to be arrested. His demand was complied with by Desk Sergeant Joe Reed. Williams carried an empty basket and pint of milk with him.

The last words he said as Motor-cop Rover and Turnkey Vinegar him into a cell were:

"Don't forget to put my milk on ice."

GANGSTER ROCKS BABY WHILE HIS PALS LOOT HOME

FORT MITCHELL, Ky.—(By United Press.)—Four robbers who went to find whiskey at the home of John W. Menzies, forced a nurse and Mrs. Menzies' sister into a butler's pantry and locked them in. But in John W. Menzies, Jr., 18 months old, they had more than they knew what to do with. His wails of distress disgusted the burglars, one of whom was delegated to rock the baby to sleep while the others searched. The they hunted long and well, they found nothing they wanted. Finally, depositing the infant unceremoniously on a table, the intruders left. Menzies, Sr., is United States court clerk at Covington.

LIMA MEN TO ATTEND STATE LEGION MEETING IN TOLEDO, SEPT. 26-27

Scores of former service men in Lima are planning to attend the annual state convention of the American Legion in Toledo, September 26 to 27 and the reunion of 37th Division veterans, which will be held September 25.

Lima will send five delegates and as many alternates to the convention, besides all of the officers who will accompany them in an advisory capacity, but with no vote. Information regarding the meeting was received Friday by Frank Hume, adjutant of William Paul Gallagher Post.

A fare and a half rate for the round trip has been secured from all railroads for the three days. Among the important matters to come before the state convention will be the passing of a state bonus for honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines and members of the army nursing corps.

Delegates to the National convention in Kansas City, Mo., October 31 to November 2, are to be selected at the state meeting. Fully 20,000 veterans are expected to attend the Kansas City meeting.

BICYCLE STAGING A COMEBACK

Boy Scout Tourists Find It Economic Means of Travel.

They're coming back. Bicycles, a popular pleasure vehicle 25 years ago and pushed into the discard by the advent of the motor car, are again in popular favor, it would seem.

In the early 90's and up to the date of the Spanish war bicycles were all the rage. Men, women and children rode 'em and they threatened to supersede faithful old Dobbin as a means of travel.

Cycle clubs were located in every city, town and hamlet and long tours were not uncommon. Bicycle races were a feature of every athletic meet, the pilots of the two-wheeled steeds being as popular as the champion auto racers of today.

Then automobiles came and the fact that most of the rural roads were impassable to even horses in those days, killed the bicycle—almost.

But it survived and the motor car owners paved the highways and made them smooth for its predecessor, linking city and country with smooth boulevards.

High railroad fares helped out. A lot of persons with a slim bank roll and ambitious to travel, rode covered the wheel as a vehicle of transportation. No gas to buy—just a good pair of limbs and a willingness to pump along over the roads.

Riders touring from city to city are now seen more frequently. The Boy Scouts started making trips by wheel. It beat hoofing it. They could talk in more territory that way.

Ten of them, hailing from Hamilton hit Lima Thursday and stopped at the Y. M. C. A. long enough to take a shower.

The boys had been in easy stages, by way of Dayton, Columbus and Springfield. On good roads they state, 60 miles a day can be chopped off. Thirty to forty is their usual gait, however. From here the party headed east toward Marion and thence toward Pittsburgh.

Friday, Ulysses Sanavria and William Rundell, Troop 13, Boy Scouts, Oak Park, Ill., breezed thru on their "bikes," enroute to Washington.

The boys carry full pack and sleep in the open, doing their own cooking. Their expenses enroute are light and they are seeing things and will visit places that would cost them a heap of money if the journey was made by train. Two others who started with them, became ill and turned back.

HARDWARE MEN RETAIN OFFICER COMPLEMENT

Two hundred and sixty-five clerks and truckmen employed in hardware stores of Group One of the Ohio State Hardware association enjoyed a picnic, Thursday, at Fautrot park. Representatives were present from Allen, Putnam, Mercer, Hardin, Van Wert and Auglaize-counties.

A picnic dinner, served at noon, was a feature. The afternoon was spent in contests, awards for the same being donated by hardware dealers in the district.

No arrangements were made for a like meeting next year. It is possible the outing will be held at Cedar Point.

Eugene Waltz served as president, and J. W. Blackburn, of Lima, as recording secretary. C. L. Crooks, Van Wert, was corresponding secretary to aid in planning the event.

The association elected no officers to take care of the picnic next year. These will be named shortly before the outing next year.

FIREMEN APPRECIATE KINDNESS OF FRED GIFT

Members of the Lima fire department who fought the barn fire on S. Main-st Thursday night are loud in their praises of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gift, who reside on S. Main-st near the scene of the fire. Following the fire, Mr. and Mrs. Gift invited the firemen into their home and served hot coffee and cocoa.

"You can take it from me," Assistant Chief Eyster said, Friday, "we surely appreciate treatment like that."

LIMA MEN WILL ATTEND OHIO BUILDERS MEET AT CEDAR POINT, SEPT. 23-25

Several officials of building and loan institutions in Lima will attend the convention of the Ohio Builders' association league which holds its third annual session at Cedar Point, August 23-25.

Those who are to attend the convention from Lima are: C. E. Lyzga, secretary, C. F. Stolzenbach, Dr. D. H. Sullivan, John W. Roby, Henry G. Wanner, members of the board of directors, of the Allen-co Savings and Loan Co.

Delegates from the Citizens Loan and Building Co. are: L. A. Feltz, secretary, and W. P. Anderson, attorney; Harry M. Steiner, secretary, and Frank Mead, attorney, of the Lima Home and Savings Co. will attend the session.

Officials of the Central Building and Loan association will attend the convention but it is not yet known who will represent the body.

J. W. Gensel will attend from the South Side Building and Loan. Home building and methods by which the small saver can be taught to place funds in the institutions will be the principal topics discussed.

Speakers include: John R. Cassidy of the Ohio State Tax commission; John J. Stoddard, Columbus, president of the building and loan organization; Mrs. Katherine Kennedy, Spencerville and William Mather Lewis of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Ohio needs 170,000 homes, according to James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building association league, and it will require $580,000,000 or more of the combined assets of all the building and loan institutions in Ohio to adequately relieve the housing shortage in the state.

DUNLAPS' CREDITORS TO BE PAID BY SALE OF THEIR PROPERTY

Estate of J. Wilbur Dunlap and Howard P. Dunlap, both of Alger, was valued at $137,550 in property and $77,935 in personal effects, according to report of appraisers, made at a meeting of creditors Thursday, in Kenton.

All property will be sold to pay off debts. Allen Edwards, McGuffey, was appointed trustee of the estate by the creditors, supplanting J. V. Hill, Roundhead, who has been serving as receiver since the two men filed voluntary bankruptcy petitions.

DEATH OF JESSIE KIMMEL
Miss Jessie Kimmel, 29, died at her home, 136 1-2 W. High-st, Friday at 11 a. m., after a few hours illness from heart trouble. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

TWO ADDITIONAL MILITARY UNITS PLANNED FOR LIMA

Lima may have two additional military organizations in the near future, according to Major Frank Hume, who states that he will make this city the home station for the headquarters company of the Second Battalion of the Ohio National Guard.

In addition, it was stated that the organization of a battery of field artillery is contemplated by men who were in that arm of the service during the war. War veterans, Major Hume said, have been out long enough to want to get back in.

One of the obstacles that is holding up formation of the new companies, it was stated, is the lack of an armory large enough to house four units. It is hoped to obtain an appropriation for the purpose from the state and federal departments at some future date.

The Lima News will have a Rest Room with free local telephone service at the Allen-Co Fair next week. You are welcome to make unlimited use of these free services.

PAIR NEAR DEATH IN GRADE CRASH

Auto Crushed by Freight Train
Near Middle Point

ONE HURT IN ROAD SMASHUP

Barn Is Burned—Citizens of Van Wert Die

VAN WERT — (Special) — Oilon Oglesbee and wife, of Middle Point, escaped death by a hair's breadth near that village Thursday. As their auto was crossing the Pennsylvania company railroad track, Oglesbee saw an interurban car approaching on the track paralleling the steam road and stopped quickly.

His engine was "killed" and Oglesbee and his wife did not see a freight train approaching until it was almost upon them. They jumped, barely in time to save their lives. The auto was reduced to wreckage.

A large barn on the Washburn farm, in York-twp, near here, was destroyed by fire early Thursday, when struck by lightning. Grain fodder and farm machinery was stored in the structure.

As Paul Timbers of this city was en route to the Celina fair, driving a truck, a big touring car, headed toward Decatur, struck the truck in passing, tearing off a wheel and hurling the Timbers vehicle into the ditch. The driver was injured. The touring car party did not stop. Other motorists gave chase, but were outdistanced.

A Lynch, 85, baker, long time resident here and prominent in the O. O. F. lodge died Thursday. He is survived by his widow, three daughters and a son.

J. M. Keller, 60, well known citizen near Ohio City, died Wednesday, from dropsy. His wife and eight children survive.

Mrs. William Young died here Thursday, from apoplexy. She was a lifelong resident here. Her husband, two daughters and a brother remain.

FREE RIDE COSTS LEG
POPULAR BLUFF, Mo. — Misfortune teaches the lessons of youthful folly, according to Henry Ranney, sixteen, who today has but one leg.

Ranney, with several other youths, decided to "ride the blind" of a Missouri Pacific passenger train. There was a dull thud, a scream, and when the dust cleared away Ranney was minus a leg.

PRINCE ALEXANDER, IN HOSPITAL CRITICALLY ILL

PARIS — Surgeons attending Prince Regent Alexander of Jugo Slavia, who is ill at a private hospital in Neuilly, have hesitated to perform an operation for appendicitis from which the prince is suffering.

During the war Prince Alexander was compelled to undergo an operation during the Serbian retreat into Albania, one of his ribs being removed, and fears are expressed that he may be unable to stand another major operation. The surgeons attending the prince during the war are said to have operated under bad conditions.

Prince Alexander, who has been in failing health for some time, came to France some weeks ago incognito to consult specialists.

AMERICA IN POSITION TO SOLVE WORLD'S ILLS

COLUMBUS — Because it is only from profit on production that the immense war debt can be paid production costs will remain high. This is the belief expressed by Colvin B. Brown, Washington, head of the Department of Organization, United States Chamber of Commerce, in an address to a local audience.

"If the selling price sinks below the cost of production no power on earth can hold it there, and after this period of reconstruction is passed we will go back on a sound basis, for the world needs our goods," said Mr. Brown.

"Not a section of the country is selling up to its ability to produce," he declared, stating that there is no overproduction now because there is insufficient food to feed the world until the next harvest, nor enough clothing to garb the world properly. Asserting that this nation is in a position such as no other country ever has enjoyed for reestablishing the world's credit, he advocated extension of credit to European countries.

LOST, ONE RING; IT'S PROPERTY OF FIREMAN

Were you at the fire on S. Main-st. Thursday night? And did you find a signet ring somewhere around Vine and Main-st.?

If you did, that ring probably belongs to Floyd Matthews, member of the Central fire department.

Matthews, in laying a line of hose, had his leg caught on a hose connection. It was jerked from his finger. The finger was lacerated. But Matthews says he doesn't mind the finger if he can recover the ring.

SLEW DEER WITH PADDLE

CHESA, Mass. — Orrin Brown, seventeen years old, of Beverly, was arraigned in the Chelsea Court charged with killing a deer by hitting it with a canoe paddle. His case was placed on file. Brown is alleged to have killed the deer when it swam into the Saugus River, where he was canoeing, to escape a dog.

STREET CAR CUTS FIRE LINES

Motorman Refused to Stop; Hose is Destroyed.

Efforts will be made by Fire Chief John Mack to have authorities impose heavy fines upon street car motormen and drivers of other vehicles who persist in running over lines of hose. There has been considerable complaint registered on this matter, Chief Mack declared and for a while it was believed the trouble was eliminated. However, it again cropped out Thursday night while firemen were fighting a barn fire on S. Main-st.

Two lines of hose were laid from the hydrant at Vine and Main-sts. One line was carried east on Vine and then thru an alley to the burning structure, while the second was laid in Main-st. A street car motorman, according to Chief Mack, refused to heed a watchman's signal to stop at the hose. The car proceeded, with the result that two sections of hose were cut.

"This thing has got to stop," Chief Mack declared, Friday. "We had almost eliminated it at one time. But drivers are growing negligent again. There is positively no excuse for motorists driving over fire hose, much less a street car motorman. And any man ought to have sense enough to know that when a street car runs over a line, the hose is going to be cut."

WOMEN BARRISTERS OF LONDON DEBATE CLOTHES

LONDON — How will the new women barristers dress? This is a question that is occupying some attention now that four women have been admitted to the bar. Will they, like their "brothers-in-law" don the curled wig and wear the double-tailed white ribbon at the throat—or will they be permitted to plead bareheaded at the bar?

"It seems" said the secretary of the general council of the bar, "to be a problem which will have to be solved by the Lord Chancellor and his committee. I anticipate that the gowns for both sexes will be very similar, but as for the wig—what about the women's coiffeurs?" As for the women themselves, the opinion of most of them is that they will wear whatever is decided upon, with wigs or without.

PROBLEM SOLVED BY WIRELESS

Phone System Flashes Story
Ashore as Boats Race at Sea

EXPERIMENT IS EXPLAINED

Tested Out by Associated Press
at Chicago

CHICAGO—(By Associated Press)—The wireless telephone, used by the Associated Press to cover the Great Lakes speed boat regatta August 4, 5, 6, 7, furnished a solution for one of the most difficult problems of news-men, that of getting the results ashore and into the office speedily.

The ingenuity required to report yacht races has furnished many a romantic incident in news reporting, but the wireless telephone in this instance swept every previous known barrier to speed.

VOICE CLEAR

Sitting in comfort on the deck of a ship at the finish line, the Associated Press reporter, without getting out of his chair, called the names of speed boats, as fast as they flashed past him, direct into the office of the Associated Press by a loop skyographer. His voice carried as clearly as if he had been in an adjoining room.

The new experiment in reporting was made possible by the co-operation of the United States navy department and the naval reserves of Illinois. The transmitting equipment, furnished by Captain Edward A. Evers, commanding the Illinois Naval Reserves, was installed aboard the submarine chaser 419, placed at the disposal of the Associated Press by Captain Daniel W. Wirtzbaugh, commander of the Ninth Naval District and Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Lieut. A. C. Forbes, wireless officer of the Illinois Reserves, was in charge of the installation.

At the Associated Press offices, on the seventh floor of an office building, a small receiving set was placed on one corner of a desk, and for aerial, a single strand of wire was stretched from a window to a roof across an area of 100 feet.

During the regatta the wireless chiral at Great Lakes Naval Training Station maintained telephone contact with the Municipal Pier, where hundreds of visitors to the Pageant of Progress heard the Associated Press Bulletin.

The naval wireless exhibit was one of the stellar attractions at the pageant. Visitors heard wireless telegraph stations in many parts of the country, and "listened in" at hand and phonograph concerts in Chicago and other cities.

CITY IS HEALTHY, COUNTRY NOT

Dr. Work, Medico Prexy, Explodes
Old Theory on Farm Life

WASHINGTON — (International News Service). Don't send your children to the country if you want them to get healthy—cities now produce the most virile men.

Thus does Dr. Hubert Work, First Assistant Postmaster General and newly-elected president of the American Medical Association explode the old-fashioned theory that a greater chance for health prevails among the green fields, the waving corn fields and the wooded hills of the rural districts than on the asphalt pavements and crush-rocked play-grounds of the big city.

It is not that the strenuous and sometimes endless tasks of life on the farm are not just as healthful as they ever were, but, says Dr.

Work: "The city affords more sanitary living conditions than the country, and he pointed out that there are three distinct reasons why city boys have a better chance for health than the country boy.

"In the first place, the living conditions are more sanitary, medical attention is more prompt, and there are greater medical facilities. Those are the three reasons."

Asked if the dirt and the noise of the average American city afforded greater opportunities for health than the rural community, with its fresh air, good food, and other advantages, Dr. Work said:

"Statistics show that there is a greater proportion of healthy boys among the city groups than the country ones."

"There are more doctors in proportion to population in the city than in a farm community. There are 140,000 doctors in the United States, and over half of them are city physicians. This means that it is hard to get a doctor in the country. The farms are usually extensive, and the doctor must lose much time in getting about."

HOSPITALIZATION FACTOR
"In the city there is a doctor convenient in almost every neighborhood and the sick child may receive attention without delay. The doctor's proximity enables him to keep the child under close observation. The country doctor may be just as efficient and scientific; his education is no doubt practically the same, but he lacks the facilities of the city physician.

"That leads me to the third reason the city boy is healthier. There are greater hospital facilities here. And the children receive medical attention even in the public schools. Their mouths are clean. The attention given their teeth by the dentists of the school authorities is admirable. It must be realized that there is no more important item of good health than a clean set of teeth to masticate the food."

"Hospitalization is another matter that cannot be overestimated. Many doctors have learned there is no better place to work and are prompt in advising patients to avail themselves of their facilities. But here again the country boy lacks."

Dr. Work believes that much of the movement from the country to the city can be attributed to mothers who realize that their children will be healthier in an urban community.

PERSIA HAS NEW POLITICAL BOSS

Rothstein, Former London Newspaper Man In Control

AIMS TO INJURE ENGLAND

Plans to Establish Bolshevik Ministry

By NEWTON C. PARKE.
LONDON.—(International News Service)—Nicholas Rothstein, one-time London newspaper man, is the new "boss" of Persia, according to information received here.

Sent to Teheran on a special mission by the Soviet Government, Rothstein gradually worked his way into the good graces of the late Shah and his ministers, making a union of the Persian people and how possesses such political power that he is planning to set up a Bolshevik Ministry.

Rothstein was a British subject before the war he was noted for his radical writings, and he frequently said things that greatly displeased the British Government. But he was so keen and wide awake that when the war broke out he was placed in one of the Intelligence branches of the War Office, where he gained an insight into governmental activities.

When Lenin and Trotsky seized the reins of power the former newspaper man became an avowed Bolshevik. After the Litvinoff mission was expelled from England he played the part of unofficial Soviet Ambassador and was the connecting link between the Moscow Government and English Communists.

His propagandist activities led the British Government to revoke his naturalization papers, and he was about to be deported when the Krasin mission reached London. Rothstein quickly attached himself to the mission and thus obtained immunity. He returned to Russia, with Krasin, aboard a British destroyer, but it was alleged that he attempted to convert British sailors to the Bolshevik cause, and the Government refused to permit him to return.

Lenine placed Rothstein in the Foreign Office at Moscow. According to word received here, he asked to be sent to Teheran, arguing that his special knowledge of British affairs in Persia peculiarly fitted him for the task of wiping out British influence at the Shah's capital and converting the country to Bolshevism.

Arriving at Teheran, he speedily won favor with the Shah and his court by showering them with costly presents and all kinds of attentions. He made a great hit with the people by inviting them to make themselves at home in the beautiful gardens of the Russian Embassy.

Within a few weeks Rothstein had organized a propaganda service and was dictating policies of Persian newspapers. He obtained the support of nomad tribes by liberal expenditure of Moscow money. Now he is reported to be preparing a new coup—the setting up of a Bolshevik Ministry that will revoke all the concessions previously granted to Britain.

THREE OF GANG CAPTURED

Fourth Makes His Escape—Ohio News Items.

TOLEDO—(By Associated Press).—Four youths attempting to stage a robbery of motorists on the River road near here last night picked a police squad car by mistake and three of the would-be bandits were captured. The fourth man escaped in the darkness. Patrolmen from the Euclid-avenue station returning from a call were accosted by four men, who, with drawn revolvers, blocked the way at a dark spot in the road. As the police car slowed down one of the bandits flashed a light into the car revealing the brass buttons and uniform of the patrolman. With a gasp the highwaymen started a retreat. Arthur Johnson, 18, Alfred Miller, 20, and Frank Kluck, all of Toledo, were captured after a short chase. The fourth man, whose identity the trio refuse to reveal, made his escape.

GRANGE EXHIBITS FAIR FEATURE

Fine List of Prizes Hung Up For Competing Bodies

CUP FOR BEST ATTENDANCE

All Granges of County Expected to be Represented

When the Allen-co fair swings open its gate next Tuesday one of the most interesting departments will be that of the Grange display. C. C. Arnold, Jackson-p., is superintendent. Entries closed at 6 p. m. Monday.

All articles exhibited must be a 1931 product, correctly named and labeled, and displayed by 9 a. m. Tuesday and remain until 4 p. m. of the following Friday. Each Grange will be granted free an equal amount of space for its exhibit in the grange hall. Displays must be produced by members of the grange exhibiting; each grange must arrange and decorate its own exhibit.

PLAN OF JUDGING
Judges of the exhibit will be guided by the following scale of points, in making awards: For grain threshed, grain in the sheaf and corn husked, a grade of five will be given for variety and quality, each. For grain seeded, a grade of four will be given and four for quality.

For the exhibit of melons and cantaloupes, a grade of three will be given for variety and quality, each. For cantaloupes, a grade of three will be awarded for both variety and quality in exhibits of squashes and pumpkins, vegetables, potatoes and canned fruit. For decorations a grade of eight will be allowed for variety and quality. One hundred points will constitute the basis for awards.

First premium awarded grange is $50; second $48; third $46; fourth, $44; fifth, $42; sixth, $40; seventh, $38; eighth, $36 and ninth, $34.

There will be three special cash prizes. The amount of $25 goes to the grange receiving first premium; $15 to the second and $10 to the third.

ATTENDANCE PRIZE
The grange having in attendance the largest per cent of its members during the fair will be awarded a prize, a cup. This cup is now held by Shawnee grange, which won it last year.

Members who attend from any grange are urged to give their name and name of the grange with which they are affiliated to Superintendent Arnold on any one of the four days they are present.

This contest is open to all granges and each is entitled to competition in the contest must file with the secretary of the fair on or before August 22, a certificate showing its actual membership at that date.

BIG REINDEER SHIPMENT
SAN FRANCISCO—Shipment of 30,000 pounds of dressed reindeer meat has been received in San Francisco from Nome, Alaska, by a firm of wholesale butchers here and was placed on sale today in retail shops, according to an announcement which said this marks the opening of a new industry.

UNEMPLOYMENT ADDS TO INFIRMARY TOTAL

Nowhere is the industrial depression reflected more now than at the Allen-co infirmary, where the inmates number 75, almost a greater number than recorded during any winter.

According to L. C. Sigler, superintendent, several persons are coming to the infirmary every day, or are returning to that institution. He anticipates the number to be cared for this year will run over 100. Never before has the attendance there passed the number.

Of the number now at the infirmary, there are 18 women and 57 men. The men outnumber the women three times on an average every day of the year, Superintendent Sigler says.

CARD OF THANKS
We desire to return our sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends, also the Master Plumbers Local 485, for their kindness and beautiful floral tribute shown us, during our sad bereavement of the death of our beloved husband, Father and Brother, Mrs. Corrigan and Hannah, Sisters and Brother.

AGED AUSTRIANS ARE SUFFERING

Too Proud to Ask For Aid
Until Helpless

VIENNA—(By International News Service)—“The old people of Vienna are slow to ask for help,” writes Miss Clara Landsberg, of Chicago, Ill., in an article on “The Austrian Intellectual Class” for publication in England. “Only after they have been refused work repeatedly on account of their age, or because their health has completely broken down and they realize themselves that the world will pay them nothing for what they can offer, will they apply to a mission for aid.”

“They are doing much for themselves. Every day in the Volksgarten one sees delicate old ladies taking children out walking. Ladies who formerly embroidered, or knitted dainty gifts for their friends, now sell their handwork to help them to live. One old pensioned general has taken to painting and his room is filled with pictures of the Semmering taken from sketches made in this beautiful Austrian resort in the happy time when a yearly vacation there was a matter of course. A major's widow, whom necessity has taught to do, beautiful mending, begs to be allowed to mend and patch and darn in return for the old-age ration which the Friends' Mission gives to specially deserving cases. One begs to be given translation to do, another offers to teach French or German, and still another seeks any sort of clerical work. Some come pitifully, if we cannot suggest some return they might make—anything to show their gratitude and to lessen the burden of taking a gift from a stranger.”

GOVERNMENT FACES DILEMMA
“Even when old people have written to the Friends' Mission that they are suffering for the necessities of life, they find it very difficult not to treat the visit of a kindly investigator as a friendly call and evade wholly the subject of their own need. If by chance, however, an unexpected gas bill be paid in advance has just been received and an old mother and her delicate daughter are discussing what they have still left to sell, the mission visitor seems to them to be an angel sent from heaven and the delicately reared ladies will confess in a burst of confidence that their pension is barely enough to buy them one meal a day in the city soup kitchen. Clothing, shoes, household linen, kitchen utensils, even a spool of thread, have been beyond their wildest dreams of extravagance for several years. They pay their rent by letting rooms and by selling what they can spare.

“Old men who are pensioners are usually more helpless than the women. One heard last winter terrible tales of deaths from cold and starvation, because they would not ask for help even when they had sold everything of value they had. The State recognizes in theory their hopeless situation and tries to help them meet the ever rising prices with a small bonus, but Austria, all but bankrupt, has to choose between paying adequate salaries to keep its active workers alive and adequate bonuses to its pensioners; and naturally it ends by choosing the former.”

MULE IS PRODIGAL AFTER TEN YEARS

FREEMONT, O.—This story proves that the mule, like the fabled cat, “comes back.” A mule born on a farm near Piedmont, Harrison-county, was shipped to Wheeling, W. Va. It later was shipped by train to Cadiz and assigned to work in a coal mine.

Recently it made an unauthorized trip to its birthplace. The animal, accompanied by a collie dog, left its pasture near the mine at night, arriving at its native feedbox, fifteen miles distant, at daybreak.

DEATH AT ST. MARY'S; PASTOR ACCEPTS CALL

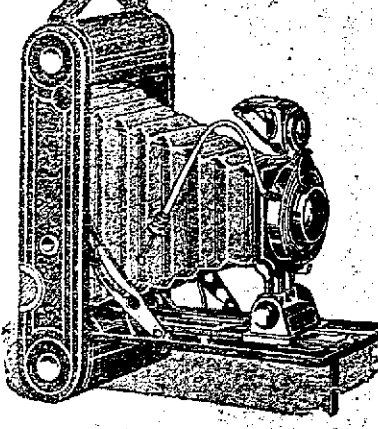

ST. MARY'S (Special)—John Keck, 63, died here Thursday, the result of chronic ailments and stroke of paralysis at his home, 122 S. Vine-st. He is survived by his wife, one son and one daughter. “Deceased” was a native of Bremen. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m.

John Brookie, young boy at New Bremen, is suffering from an attack of infantile paralysis and is reported in a serious condition. His right side is affected.

Rev. F. H. Rupnow, for some years pastor of St. Paul's Reformed church here, has accepted a call to the pastorate of St. John's church in Wayne, Ind. All efforts to have him change his decision and remain here, have failed.

PACKING BUSINESS NEAR NORMAL

Substantial Increase Shown in Every Line.

CONFIDENCE IS INSPIRED

Figures Produced to Show Growth in Trade.

(BY HAROLD D. JACOBS)
NEW YORK—(By United Press)—The meat packing business, one of the largest industries in the country, is rapidly getting back to normal basis.

In practically every line the packers are experiencing a substantial increase over pre-war business and the export trade is evincing encouraging proportions.

"If the tone of trade in what is probably the nation's largest industry—meat packing—is any criterion of general business conditions, all manufacturers of essential commodities can face the immediate prospect with some degree of confidence," Thomas E. Wilson, of Chicago, recently re-elected president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, declared in a telegraphic statement to the United Press today. PACKERS BILL INDORSED Wilson said that during the period of depression, packers often sold their products below cost but maintained production because of a sense of obligation to the public. He endorsed the passage by congress of the packers bill, regulating the meat industry.

"Late statistics show that during the first six months of this year, more meat animals have been dressed than during the corresponding period of 1913," he said.

"Federal figures for inspected slaughter during the first half of 1921 and 1913 compare as follows: Cattle, 3,627,705, against 3,233,016; calves, 1,998,180 against 1,010,544; swine, 21,081,995 against 17,464,847; sheep, 6,248,178 against 6,347,165; the only decrease. The packers felt they had no right to curtail their production, as some industries were compelled to do when general markets declined. Moreover, the Institute of American Meat Packers has urged its members to continue to process all materials even tho the cost, plus expenses, exceeded the price at which the finished products could be sold.

"We feel that, no matter what the cost, we had to preserve our tradition of economic service and full utilization of materials. DIRECT CONTRIBUTION "We do not regret any sacrifices we made in following these two policies of providing an adequate cash market for the producers of live stock, regardless of product values and of processing all raw materials even tho in so doing, we faced a loss on some of our products. We feel that our policy made a direct contribution to industrial confidence and present events lead us to believe that in the long run the industry itself has benefited. "Our export trade during the last few months has been of encouraging proportions. Values of meats and other packing house products are at low levels, of course, as compared with those existing before the general decline in commodity prices, but they have shown a remarkable capacity for stabilization and, in many cases have actually strengthened.

"Passage by congress of the so-called packers bill also should serve to eliminate much agitation which in the past, has had an unsettling effect on the industry."

MOVIE IMPROVEMENT NEW YORK—A country-wide survey made by Adolph Zukor shows that the motion picture business in the United States has turned the corner and is showing unmistakable signs of improvement, with an outlook for complete and early recovery," he announced today. "Reports from Buffalo, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Detroit, Kansas City, Denver and Los Angeles indicate a return to normal conditions at an early date, with definite prospects of a real boom in the fall and winter," Zukor said. "Boston and Cleveland have shown decided improvement since the cooler weather set in. Washington, Toledo, Omaha and San Francisco, while not reporting an appreciable improvement, so far, reflect a strong belief that better times are on the way."

TRAFFIC LIGHT OFFERED TO CITY FREE; FUND FOR INSTALLATION LACKING

Lima's opportunity to obtain a traffic light in the pavement at North and Main-st, free, will be blocked, Mayor F. A. Burkhardt stated Friday, because there is no money for installation.

Some month ago, M. C. Benson, Elkhart, Indiana, manufacturer of traffic guides, made a proposition to set one up here free. The metal box was shipped to the safety-director. Friday the company notified Mayor Burkhardt the light will be donated to the city if placed at North and Main-sts. The cost of installation will amount to $147, electricians stated. Council has no fund to draw on for the work, it was found Friday.

The guide is about eight inches high, and is set in the pavement at a street intersection. At night it can be lighted. The manufacturers state it will bear the weight of a 20 ton truck.

Mayor Burkhardt believes that the offer will have to be refused, because there is no money for the purpose available.

AMERICAN COLONY SET UP IN PERU

Two Hundred Families Involved In New Settlement

GRANTED 650,000 ACRE TRACT

Population Soon to be Increased to 800

LIMA, Peru. — (By Associated Press) — A group of American farmers comprising the advance guard of a colonization scheme said to involve more than 200 families from the western United States, arrived here recently enroute to the Pampa del Sacramento valley along the eastern head waters of the Amazon river, in northern Peru, where the colony is to be established.

650,000 ACRES

The party is in charge of J. B. Schoenfeldt, of Okmulgee, Okla., formerly United States Indian agent for Oklahoma territory, who obtained, for colonization purposes, a grant of 650,000 acres of agricultural and forestry lands from the Peruvian government last October.

After the preliminary location of the lands in the concession is completed, it is planned to bring the remaining colonists, numbering about 500, to the settlement, via Para, Brazil, and the Amazon and Ucayali rivers. The former is navigable from its mouth on the Atlantic ocean to Iquitos, Peru, about 2,000 miles.

In an interview published in the West Coast Leader, Mr. Schoenfeldt said that, owing to drought and crop failure, a number of farmers in the central west had expressed their desire to seek more fertile and profitable fields.

FARMERS FROM WEST

"I decided to look over South America," he said, "since most of the American government's desirable vacant lands, that could be obtained at a low price, have been allotted to foreign immigrants. The colonists, who are chiefly from the west, are farmers of some means and they can secure their farms at a cost of a few cents per acre simple to their lands, as soon as 200 families have been settled on the concession."

About half of the tract, according to Mr. Schoenfeldt consists of grassy plains, rolling hill land and valley. The remainder has forests. The land is said to be suitable for producing all kinds of agricultural products, especially sugar, cacao, cotton, jute, indigo and tobacco. The farms will be divided into tracts of from 500 to 5,000 acres with an average of about 1,000 acres for each family.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON TO START PROHIBITION BATTLE WITH NATIVES OF ORIENT

LONDON. — "Pussyfoot" W. E. Johnson is going to try his luck on India. Before the end of August the American anti-booze campaigner will sail for the far East, bent on wiping out Bombay's beer and Calcutta's cocktails, he announced recently.

"Pussyfoot" is a bit pessimistic about the chances of making England dry, say, within the next four or five years, and wants to see what the chances are with India. The action of the British Parliament in removing some of the war-time liquor restrictions and making it easier to get booze has discouraged Johnson, but left him in good humor.

"If they want booze, turn it loose," he said. "Let them have it—and take the consequences. That's democracy. I would like to see the whole world dry, but I believe in majority rule and whether it goes on my side or against it, I submit to the majority."

Legislation that limits the number of saloons or the number of drinking hours doesn't get to the bottom of the drink question, added "Pussyfoot," commenting on the new British law.

"A man can get just as drunk in one saloon as in three, and if he is going to get drunk he can do it just as well in three hours as in six," he said.

VETERAN BURIED BEFORE CHILD HE NEVER SAW

ANNISTON, Ala. — While men shoveled earth on the casket which contained the body of James Leroy Disspain, Alabama war hero, who was killed in France, and a bugler sounded "taps," the three-year-old son of the dead soldier, who had never seen his father alive looked on with big, wondering eyes.

"Why do they shoot those big guns, mama?" inquired the little fellow of his mother as a squad of former soldiers fired a salute over the dead hero's grave. Disspain's body arrived here several days ago from overseas. He was a member of Company C, One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Infantry, and was killed in France shortly before the armistice was signed.

U. S. NAVY HAS 11,000 SMITHS

WASHINGTON. — There are about 11,000 Smiths, 7,760 Johnsons, 5,760 Browns, and 5,240 Millers, with many similar initials in the files of the Bureau of Navigation. This was disclosed in instructions which the Navy Department has sent to all the ships and stations of the Navy requesting commanders to instruct each individual in their commands to notify his relatives of his service number and to use the number and full name in all communications to the Bureau of Navigation.

OLD NAVY SHIPS STILL ACTIVE

Many Famous Battle Crafts Ready For Duty

BY T. N. SANDIFER

WASHINGTON. — (International News Service) — Many a historic old veteran of the Seven Seas is still answering roll call in America's "navy," naval officers are disclosing in the clean-up recently inaugurated by the Navy Department.

Naval officers checking off the list of obsolete ships to be sold for junk have just revealed to the public the fact that many an ancient bulk whose name once rang across the country is still "standing by" for duty. Buried in the oblivion which swamps many war heroes, human and machine alike, they are turning up one by one. Almost daily an old bulk is sold whose original name if recalled, would stir the blood of the new purchaser.

The Granite State is one of these vessels. The Granite State is now used by the New York Naval Militia and probably to many of her precursors she is "just another old bulk-boat." This boat was once the U. S. S. New Hampshire, a battle-wagon of the old-line navy.

Laid down in 1818 at Kittery, Me., this ship stayed on the stocks until 1863 when, under pressure of the Civil War she was completed the following year. Originally christened the Alabama her name was changed to the New Hampshire, and she was fitted out as a store ship at Portsmouth, N. H., for war duty. The following year the New Hampshire joined the South Atlantic squadron. After several years of sea service she came to port at last, and since then has served in every port on the Atlantic coast from Port Royal, S. C., northward. Every schoolboy has had to learn of Farragut's famous exploits at Mobile Bay and the mouth of the Mississippi during the Civil War.

The famous vessel whose decks he trod in those desperate encounters, is still on duty, and not yet for sale. She is the Hartford, now a receiving ship at Charleston, S. C. Originally a sailing ship, with the elementary engines of that day as a second bet, the Hartford has undergone many changes. The original propeller was melted and cast into a statue of her heroic commander, Admiral Farragut, which now stands in Washington. Her armament, originally composed of 12-pounders, one 30-pounder and similar battering rams of those days, has been changed to include modern batteries and re-commissioned the Hartford today holds her place on the navy's list.

IMMIGRANT BRIDE MAY BE RETURNED

WORCESTER, Mass. — A conflict between love and his loyalty to America is taking place in the heart of Dickran Shookhan, Worcester, ice cream dealer, whose bride Felor, and her sister, Anousbig Nemanian, are facing deportation to Turkey on the ground that their passports were forged.

Dickran doesn't know just what to do, but he intends to do all in his power to keep his bride here. If the Washington authorities uphold the verdict of Immigration Commissioner Skeffington, that the girls be deported, Dickran plans to have his wife come back to America with every legal requirement fulfilled on passports. Meanwhile his attorney has appealed from the decision of Mr. Skeffington. If worst comes to worst and the girls are forced to leave America, Dickran may turn over his business and make the trip with them.

RARE ZOO SPECIMENS ARRIVE FROM SOUTH SEA

LOS ANGELES — In a collection of wild animals and jungle creatures of the South Sea Islands, declared by experts to be the largest lot of rare specimens ever brought to America, D. S. Raab, of this city, has transported to Los Angeles a new world's heavyweight champion, a 300-pound orang-outang, said to be the largest in captivity.

The collection gathered by Mr. Raab, accompanied by his wife and one assistant, in the wilds of Java, India, Borneo, Sumatra and Celebes island is valued by experts at more than $40,000. While some of the larger specimens have been sold to the Lincoln Park Zoo, of Chicago, and the New York Zoo, many of the rarer animals will be kept in Los Angeles.

In the Raab collection are a pair of rare Hawaiian geese, a cage of Chinese blue mapples, two oldiphans nobilis, beautiful pigeons, the size of pheasants, palm civets, five huge pythons, a Bennett's cassowary, rare cockatoes, six pairs of black-headed ibis, sacred pigeons, several black panthers from Lahore and Siamese fireback pheasants.

Mr. Raab expects to return to the South Seas in September for other rare animals and birds.

OPEN LETTERS

To the Auto Club
DEAR FOLKS: My thanks are conveyed to you in advance for the fine time you have assured the orphaned kiddies of the Allen-co Children's Home, who are to be given an outing at Ottawa, over in Putnam-co, next Wednesday, thru your generosity in providing automobiles for the trip.

There's a divine injunction that reads: "Inasmuch as you do it unto the least of these, My children, ye do it unto Me." The sentiment that prompted you to bring this bit of enjoyment into the lives of the wards of the county is commendable. I am sure that you will derive as much pleasure from it as the children possibly can.

After all, it is more blessed to give than to receive and the greatest pleasure in life is making others happy.
LIMA BEANE.

To the Fair Boys
FRIENDS: That the Big Allen-co Fair is so near at hand is one of the pleasant anticipations of my existence and I am but echoing the sentiment that surges in the heart of every one of my citizens in making that statement.

I'll be there next week to see the displays of farm products, the fat cattle, the sleek horses, the hogs and sheep and the displays in all departments, to say nothing of the fine race card you have the reputation for staging. I know the show is going to be a dandy; it always is and there is no expectation of a failure along any line this year, if the weather conditions are right.
LIMA BEANE.

To the Johns
DEAR BOYS: I was mighty glad, during the present week, to have the opportunity to afford a lot of you the hospitality of my city and have the pleasure of seeing you in a "get together fest" at Fawcett park.

There are a sufficient number of Johns in most any community to form a picnic party most any time, but I honestly did not think that more than 200 men of the same given name could be "scared up" for the annual outing of 1921.

That you are to come to Lima again next year is good news to me.
LIMA BEANE.

To County Agent Van Natta
MY DEAR VAN: Reports from your office, placed in print, carry the information that culling of non-egg laying hens from Allen-co farm flocks is expected to save the farmers and other poultry raisers $75,000 a year, in feed wasted on flapper biddies.

Realizing as I do that conservation and increased production at less cost is necessary for the ultimate salvation of America in coming thru a period of after-the-war depression, I am heartily in accord with the movement that seeks to send to the chopping block the birds that do not pay for their keep in egg laying.
LIMA BEANE.

To Lions-Rotary
BOYS: I'm extending to you my sincerest thanks for the excellent brand of baseball you have been putting up for the pleasure of my numerous contingent of fans, particularly in the championship series.

To the Lions goes my congratulations for winning the series, three in a row. You deserve credit for your accomplishment, as your diamond foe has been worthy of your steel.

When Kiwanis and the Elks decide who is entitled to climb out of the cellar, I hope that an all-star team will be picked from the City League teams for conclusions with the Independents.

After that, the radiator fans will have all winter to dope out an even better City League for next season.
LIMA BEANE.

To the G. O. P.
FRIENDS: With members of your party constituting a majority of the personnel of my city council, voting against the confirmation of the appointment of a woman as a member of the board of health of my city, you handed me the surprise of my life.

Judging from the manner in which the women of my city rushed to the aid of your party ticket in the 1920 election, I had reason to believe that you would be as anxious to retain the aid and support of the women as you were to receive it last November.

Really, boys, your action is amazing.
LIMA BEANE.

To Council Members
DEAR DADS: Your tenure of existence, as members of council of my city, is growing short. You have little more than four months to serve. I have been thinking about how nice it would be if, before laying down the scepter of your power as local legislators, you could take the stink out of Hog Creek, resurface the Main-st pavement, build a transfer and comfort station in the public square, place all overhead wires in conduits, re-establish peace with all public utility corporations serving my city, fire all experts to whom money is paid for work that can and should be done by officials elected for that purpose and—but, what's the use to think about it?
LIMA BEANE.

To Fire Chief Mack
DEAR JOHN: According to information loaned by Safety Director Dorris in the presence of my city council, the equipment of your department is in bad shape, and a lot of money is needed for repairs and replacements. I note too, John, that Councilman Brice says the machinery is not properly taken care of. I can scarcely believe that, in view of the effective work your department has been reputed to be able to do in fighting fire. If there is anything wrong with your department or anything needed, you tell it, John.
LIMA BEANE.

To Police Chief Roush
DEAR JAKE: With a new motorcycle and sidecar in your department, added efficiency should be had in chasing auto thieves and dispensers of hard liquor and in bringing in those who are still taking a chance on home made hooch.

I quite agree with you that you should have a clerk in your department, to look after office detail, affording you more time for general supervision of my policemen and to assist in working out problems that make for general welfare.
LIMA BEANE.

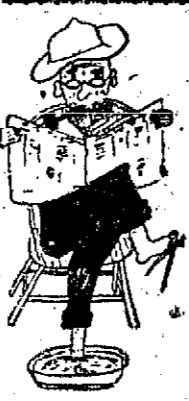

To Lima Moose
DEAR LODGEMEN: Opening of the "Made in Lima" exposition at your new lodge home on W. North-st Thursday night afforded a great many of my people a fine opportunity to get a close-up of the great number of manufactured articles that are product of my industries.

Your enterprise in erecting such a fine structure deserves the best kind of commendation and support. When the home is complete and ready for occupancy in all departments, it's going to afford me a lot of pleasure to add it to my list of possessions.
LIMA BEANE.

To Health Commissioner Poling
DEAR DOC: Assurances from your department of welfare of my city that births are exceeding deaths in a great measure, lends impetus to my hopes for an accelerated increase in population.

So long as the Stor' is able to outdistance the Grim Reaper, it is an indication that the health conditions of my city are being maintained in something near the right sort of manner.

OLD SCISSORS SAYS:
A statistician figures it out that a Lima housewife earns $4,004 a year—the four dollars probably recognizing the amount the average housewife actually receives.

MODERN ANCIENTS.

No. 1.
King Arthur seated himself with dignity in the place of honor at the Round Table and raised his hand for attention.

"Doncha know this is a self-serve place now, ya poor bimbo?" yelled Lancelot as he buzzed by carrying a trayful of salmon sandwiches to Guinevere.

No. 2.
William Tell, having placed the apple on his son's head, stepped back uncertainly. "I am hardly myself," he muttered nervously, as he adjusted his arrow with shaking hands.

"Shoot 'er natural, pop," called back his offspring, clicking the prancing parchment in his trousers pocket.

This sally so cheered William that he took heart and rolled up $2 out of a possible 100.

No. 3.
"A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse," belated Richard III. "I'd walk a mile for a Camel myself," came back the irrepressible court wag.

CLUBS ARE TRUMP.

Patrolman Smith
Was a dangerous lad for a crook to fool with. He was strolling his beat on a bright August day when a bold, legless bootblack hobbled his way.

"Shake a leg," yelled the cop. The boy couldn't because he had none—and was crowded for defying the laws.

Patrolman Brown
Was known as the kindest cop in the town. He met a young lady and, the he looked pained. He slugged her because, as he later explained:

"I been readin' the papers where some fellers' wives have pinged 'em. I beamed her to save other lives."

Patrolman Jones
Had a skullpiece made up of the choicest of bones. A golden-haired baby said "Da-da" to him.

So he pulled forth his blackjack and knocked 'out a glim.

He later admitted: "I'm sorry, I am, But when she said 'Da-da' I thought she said 'Damn.'"

And that is the essence and that is the pith Of the stories of Jones and of Brown and of Smith.

TO A BARBER.

Barber, I've yielded to your tearful prayer, For being half-witted and weak. I've allowed you to spray Quackster's Oil on my hair, Rub Anti-Shinine on my beak.

I've taken each lotion and compound and blend, You've tried out your whole barrage, But one thing I'll stick to and stick to the end— I WON'T take a mud massage.

Barber, insist till you're blue in the face, Give vent to chagrin and to spleen, You've browbeaten me like the rest of your race, And my check is two dollars fifteen.

I've allowed you to strangle and drown me and burn, I smell like a badly garage, But now is the time that this word turns a turn— I WON'T take a MUD MASSAGE.

WAR PAINT

Somehow, the I am no "beauty doctor," I receive a lot of letters from feminine, and some from masculine readers who are anxious about their "pores" and things. Many of the queries have to do with the use of war paint. Is it harmful? Is it poisonous?

There are all kinds of paints and powders and other jimmicks employed for purposes of camouflage, some of which are perfectly harmless to the user and some of which are poisonous or contain poisonous ingredients, such as lead, arsenic, mercury. I am not a chemist, nor have I analyses of all the popular war paints available, so I am unable to inform correspondents whether this and that particular cosmetic is harmless. I can only express some general views on the subject.

From the hygienic point of view, it is not only objectionable but perhaps beneficial for a woman to employ these cosmetics for the purpose of camouflaging natural defects. But let no girl entertain the notion that some sort of cream, powder or other face dope is essential for her make-up. The finest complexions are not purchased from the drug store; they are achieved thru good hygiene, open air exercise and a kind of scientific neglect of the complexion.

Females who apply war paint so haphazardly as to become conspicuously belabored betray their mental weakness. That sort of hideous adornment is characteristic of the moron woman. Probably that is the reason why a stigma attaches to the conspicuous or noticeable use of war paint. Any girl who knows enough to pass a fifth grade mental test will think twice before dousing her face with stuff that can be detected by the casual observer.

Many of the inquiries I receive on this subject are from girls who are particularly prone to think that something in the nature of a "face cream" or similar dope is indispensable in a lady's toilet. Old or prematurely aged persons often do need something greasy or oily to apply to the preternaturally dry and scallow skin. Younger persons seldom require this; on the contrary, in most young persons the natural oily secretion of the skin is excessive and troublesome, and of course all creams are to be avoided in such circumstances.

It is a woman's right and duty to make herself look as attractive at all times as she can. At the same time she requires a modicum of brains in order to avoid making a caricature of herself in her excesses of make-up.

BELGIUM GIRL WILL NOT WED YANK

To Return to Own Country and Marry Frenchman

SAYS MAN IS BOSS HERE

Prefers Youthful Lover to American

BY DOROTHY HUSKE

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press) — What is the stuff that ideal husbands are made of?

The American with his cave-man methods, falls far short of the ideal of Mile Julie Jarry. She has thought it over and decided that a Frenchman will submit more gracefully to feminine management.

This coy young Belgian miss came from Brussels eight months ago to Cleveland. Object, matrimony. A typist with the American army in France, she became engaged to a young lieutenant in the A. E. F. To Mile Julie an "Americaine" was almost as great as God.

But America, with its strange new freedom—its emancipation of women—has left Mile Jarry cold.

"I WILL MARRY JULES"

"No, no," she declares, in accent naive and charming, "I will go back to my country. I will marry Jules. I will be—what you say—'boss.' In America the man is boss."

With this the Belgian girl lightly dismisses her erstwhile fiancé and turns her thoughts towards Jules and Paris. Jules is another story. Since they were kiddies, living side by side in Brussels, Jules has always been the adoring slave of Julie. Julie persistently, though gently, discouraged the attentions of the French boy.

Then, just at the peak of her disappointment in her cave-man lover, her ardor for America chilled, came a letter with a foreign postmark. Which proves that Jules was right there when opportunity knocked.

SALES BACK TO FRANCE

Julie sailed for France this month. She will be married and spend her honeymoon in Paris. Then she will go with Jules to live in Oppedun, St. Louis, where he is an inspector for the Secret Service.

"There is much of charm in being about America," says Mile Jarry, with a beguiling smile, "your hospitality is so lovely. I will come back some day with my husband."

If you speak of the great war to Julie (she was twice held in German prison camps), her sunny expression is clouded for an instant, and her eyes seem to see horrible things.

You wait intently for the strange story she is about to tell. Then she brightens and speaks with a confidential air.

"But wait, I will tell you something," I have a secret ambition in me. After I am married I am going to write a book. You will read it, no?"

How Old Are You By Your Hair?

You may be only thirty, but if bald-headed, gray, or your hair is brittle, scraggly and ugly-looking, people will surely take you to be much older.

If you want a lot of good-looking hair the roots must be immediately vitalized and kept properly nourished. To do this quickly and safely, get from Thompson's 3 Drug Stores a bottle of Parisian Sage. A little attention now will insure plenty of beautiful hair for years to come.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed to keep away all dandruff, stop scalp itch and falling hair and stimulate a new growth, or money refunded. It's in great demand by discriminating women because it makes the hair soft, lustrous, easy to arrange attractively and appear much heavier than it really is.

Parisian Sage is easy to use, not sticky, and daintily perfumed—an antiseptic, clean liquid that supplies all hair needs.—Adv.

SCRAPPED LIKE AN OLD MACHINE

That's What Virginia Man Had Feared Would Happen To Him

"Before I got Tanlac I was always the last one at our house to get to the table, and the first one to leave; but now I'm always the first one there and the last one to stop eating," was the characteristic statement made by A. B. Carter, a sheet metal worker, residing at 317 Chestnut St., Covington, Va.

"It seemed that my health broke down all at once, just like I've seen old pieces of machinery that have been used for years suddenly give way and have to be scrapped, and every day seemed to bring me closer to the time when I would have to be 'scrapped.' After eating my stomach bloated with gas so bad it reminded me of the leather bellows I use at the shop, and everything I ate hurt me. I was bilious and yellow, and felt sluggish and heavy on my feet. I could hardly eat anything, and was too nervous to sit at the table until the others finished a meal."

"I knew what Tanlac would do because of the way it had helped my brother, so I commenced taking it, and it has straightened me out, put new life and energy in me and I'm back at work every day, feeling better than I did even before my troubles began. The more people know about what Tanlac has done for me the better pleased I'll be."

Tanlac is sold in Lima by Hunter's Drug Store, and by leading druggists everywhere. Adv.

GIRL BITTEN BY LOVE BUG

Likes Several Young Men, One Better
Than All Others

Is Anxious to Ascertain State of His Regard for Her

Dear Miss Smart:

HERE ARE several young men with whom I keep company occasionally. I like them all very much, of course, just as good friends. However, there is one whom I

MY dear girl, really that is a very foolish question, as I have little means of knowing whether or not the young man is interested in you. You are the one who should be able to judge the degree of his friendship and interest in you. If he seems to enjoy your society and seeks your friendship more than he does that of other young women; if he is considerate of your pleasures, thoughtful and respects you and is especially considerate of your feelings, you may feel quite certain that he is interested in you, at least.

Do not try to force attentions from the young man. Let him make all the advances and simply show him the same courtesy which you would any other friend. The fact that you are uncertain about his regard suggests that he does not show a special interest in you. Do not permit yourself to become too interested in him until you are more certain of his regard toward you.

Dear Miss Smart:

(1) Would it be alright for a girl 14 to have a masquerade party in August with about nine girls and nine boys? (2) What would be nice to serve at this party and what games could be played? (3) I have light brown hair, dark blue eyes, black eyelashes and very light complexion. Would I be classed as a blonde or a brunette? (4) Am I too young to come home from church with three brothers in a machine, if another girl is along? The girls are 14 and the boys ages are 11, 13 and 15 years.

(1) Yes, if she so desires. (2) There are few suggestions I can offer for a lunch as almost everyone serves the same refreshments. It is not how much one serves, but the daintiness and taste displayed in the arranging and serving. A luncheon of sandwiches, salad, pickles or olives, salted almonds and hot chocolate is always very appetizing, or the "old standby"—ice cream (brick is really the choicest), cakes, mints and hot chocolate. I have not sufficient space in this column to detail forms of amusement. Try to recall the parties which you have attended and think of the various sorts of entertainment your host or hostess provided for you. Dancing or contests always enliven a party.

(4) I think you are somewhat of a mixture, but really what difference does it make whether you be blonde or brunette? (5) I can see no harm in it, providing the boys are respectable and you go directly home from church.

"And It Cannot Warp"

Made from rock, encased in a heavy protective covering, Sheetrock takes any decorative treatment. It can be papered, painted or paneled.

And Sheetrock is fireproof. It cannot warp, shrink or buckle. It protects the building. An insulator of heat, Sheetrock makes the building cool in summer, warm in winter, and cuts fuel bills.

You will also be glad to know that the cost of Sheetrock—for new construction, alterations and repairs—is actually less than that of frail, unsatisfactory wallboards. We suggest that you call on us today and see for yourself what a wonderful material this standard wall and ceiling unit really is.

PARADISE BEND

By WILLIAM PATTERSON WHITE

The lanky man's six-shooter was half drawn when Loudon's gun spat flame and smoke. The lanky one's fingers slipped their grip and his arm jerked forward. The lanky man thrust his left hand under his vest.

"Don't," cautioned Loudon. The lanky man staggered into the street.

Laguerra watched the doorway. "I don't feel like poker now. I reckon I'll see yuh later maybe." With an airy wave of his head Bill Archer left the barroom.

"Well sir, gent's," remarked the bartender. "I'm never so glad in my life when Shiny Maxson don't pull that derring-doo."

"Is Shiny Maxson anythin' special 'round here?" asked Loudon. "He's a friend of Bill Archer's," replied the bartender. "But look out for Shiny's brother Luke."

Thru the doorway bounded a stocky citizen, blood in his eye and a shotgun in his hand. "Luker!" cried the bartender, and dived beneath the bar.

"Stranger," observed Loudon, "drop that shotgun an' drop her quick." Loudon's tone was soft, but the wild-eyed man's shotgun thudded on the floor.

"By Gar!" exclaimed Laguerra. "Get 'em!" "Shut up!" roared Loudon.

For the wild-eyed man was the same individual who had brought the tale of the Hatchet Creek Indian uprising. But there was no recognition in the man's eyes.

At the window flanking the door appeared the plump face and shoulders of Judge Allison.

"Mr. Franklin," said Judge Allison, "should you care to try conclusions with Mr. Maxson in the street no one will interfere. I speak unofficially, of course."

"You hear what the judge says?" Loudon cocked an eyebrow at Luke Maxson. "Shore, shore," said that worthy feverishly and fled. Loudon hurried upstairs for his rifle. In the street could be heard the voice of Judge Allison booming instructions to the passersby to remove themselves and their ponies from the range of fire.

Loudon stood, his eyes on the dance hall door. Luke Maxson stepped out of the dance hall doorway. Bang! The judge's six-shooter spoke. Instantly the upper half of Maxson's figure was hidden by a cloud of smoke.

Loudon worked his Winchester rapidly. At his sixth shot he saw Luke Maxson drop his rifle and fall forward.

"Say, Tom," Laguerra said when they were alone, "why deed you tell me to shut up, eh?" "Don't yuh see, Telescope?" replied Loudon. "Here's Bill Archer, suspicious of us already. But if we don't recognize Luke Maxson he won't know what to think."

"You are right," nodded Laguerra. "But yuh you not keel de man, huh?" "Gripped up in bed he'll make a fine exhibit A for our outfit."

That hearty soul, Judge Allison, brought the news. There were three bullets in Luke's right leg and two in his left. And the left leg was broken.

Loudon brightened visibly. A broken leg would confine the amiable Luke to his bed for a period of weeks.

Loudon and Laguerra, having paid their bill, left the hotel, swung eastward and loped steadily for several miles.

Toward midnight they came to a well-marked trail. They knew it could be none other than the trail to Blossom, and they turned into it. When day broke the two men left the trail and rode southward. In the middle of the afternoon, emerging from a draw, they reached Damson.

They dismounted and entered the station. The agent responded readily to Loudon's inquiries.

"Surely," he said; "about two weeks ago, yep, on the seventeenth Bill Archer shipped ninety-five head Barred Twin Diamond hoeses to Cram an' Docket in Pigan City. The two Maxson boys an' a feller they called Rudd was with Archer, East-bound?"

"Dus in an hour an' a half Yep, I'll set the board against her." When Mr. Cram came down to his office in the morning Tom Loudon was sitting on the office steps. He had spent two hours strolling among the corrals of Cram & Docket.

"I just thought I'd tell yuh that there's ninety-five head of stolen hoeses in number eight corral," said Loudon.

"Wha'what?" gasped Mr. Cram. "Yes, sir, them ninety-five Barred Twin Diamonds yuh bought offen Bill Archer o' Marysville an' shipped from Damson was all stole from Scotty Mackenzie's Flyin' M. ranch up north near Paradise Bend in the Dogsoldier valley."

"Why—why," stammered Mr. Cram. "I don't believe a word of it." "Meanin' how?" queried Loudon softly.

"Well, of course, but— Oh, come inside." No need. Scotty Mackenzie an' his foreman, Doubleday, will come down here an' prove ownership in about a week or so."

"But I've just sold that bunch to a firm in Omaha!" "Yuh won't ship 'em. I woke up Judge Curran at 6 o'clock an' in junction against yuh shippin' 'em."

Loudon dropped off the train at Damson into the arms of Johnny Ramsey and Chuck Morgan.

In company with Laguerra, an Ramsey and Chuck Morgan. In company with Laguerra, an hour later they were riding northward.

The four men did not push their mounts. Separating at the edge of the town, they met in the rear of Judge Allison's corral. Loudon approached the house on foot. There was a light in the office. He rapped on the door.

"Come in," called the judge. Loudon pushed open the door. He glimpsed the fat figure of the judge and behind him the surprised faces of Archer and Sheriff Block, and then Archer's hand flung sideways and knocked over the lamp.

"Bang!" A tongue of flame spat past Loudon's chin. Loudon fell.

flat on his back. "Whataa matter?" demanded Johnny Ramsey. "Who plugged yuh?" "Where's he hit?" queried Church Morgan anxiously.

Loudon suddenly regained his breath, scrambled to his feet and plunged thru the doorway into the office.

Loudon groped purposefully for thirty seconds, and then closed his hands round a neck and exerted pressure. The tumult stilled.

The judge wiggled to his feet. A match crackled and flared. By its light was revealed Loudon kneeling on Archer's chest, the judge, naked to the waist and panting, and in the background Loudon's three friends.

The judge's negro peered around the doorjamb. His master ordered a lamp. "Judge," said Loudon, "in the corrals o' Cram an' Docket in Pigan City are ninety-five head o' Barred Twin Diamond hoeses, all stole from the Flyin' M. ranch up near Paradise Bend. Them hoeses was shipped down Damson by Bill Archer here, the two Maxson boys an' Rudd o' the 88."

"The five hoeses in Archer's corral an' the one he sold you was in the stolen unch, too. My friend, Telescope Laguerra, an' I can swear to a few of 'em, an' any expert could tell yuh the brand was altered from the Flyin' M."

"Damit!" said the judge, "the five Barred Twin Diamond hoeses in his corral are no longer there. Gentlemen, last night some one endeavored to steal the sorrel. To night Archer and the sheriff came to me and wished to buy him."

"Johnny, you an' Chuck slide up to the Flyin' M, an' when yuh come back yuh'll find Telescope an' me waitin' for yuh at the Cross-in-a-box," directed Loudon when the four were in the saddle. At the day's end Loudon and Laguerra rode up to the Bar & Hecamp on Packsaddle creek. Hocking and Red Kane were unsmiling. "Howdy, Red," said Loudon grinning.

Loudon and Laguerra spent the night at the line camp. In the morning they rode with Winchester across their laps, and took advantage of every bit of cover the country afforded. Loudon dismounted, sweatied up an incline and plumped himself down behind an outcrop on the edge of the reverse slope. He peered down into a wide-bottomed draw.

Halfway down the slope a man lay on his stomach. The branches of a pine concealed the upper half of his body. At the bottom of the slope Kate Saltoun, mounted on a black horse, was talking to the puncher Rudd.

Loudon edged noiselessly backward and signaled Laguerra. Then Loudon shoved his rifle forward and covered Rudd. Laguerra was crawling into position.

"Dunno who that sport under the pine is," whispered Loudon. "You take him anyhow, an' I'll take Rudd."

Suddenly, after a decidedly emphatic shake of Rudd's head, Kate pulled a white object from her saddle-pocket and flung it at Rudd. Then she wheeled her horse on his hindlegs, jumped him ahead, and set off at a tearing run.

"Hands up!" came in the unmistakable bellow of Marvin, the 88 range boss.

Rudd stood up, his hands above his head. The white object lay at his feet. Kate had halted her horse at Marvin's shout. She turned in her saddle and looked back.

"Keep a-go'n, lady!" yelled Marvin. "You wander, an' be quick about it!"

"Shut up, Marvin!" called Loudon. "Keep yore paws up, Rudd!" Loudon and Laguerra, covering their men, moved down the slope.

"Seen anythin' o' Marvin or Rudd lately?" inquired Loudon. "Seen Rudd down near Boh Hill two days ago. He was over on our side of the creek. Said he was huntin' strays."

Loudon drew his six-shooter. He cooped the belt to one side and picked up the white object. His eyes told him that it was a lady's knotted handkerchief, and his fingers that three twenty-dollar gold pieces were contained therein.

For the past two minutes Loudon had been aware of Kate's approach. "May I have a few words alone with you?" she asked.

"Shore, I guess two won't be too many to watch, Telescope." He walked at Kate's stirrup till they were out of earshot.

"Here's yore handkerchief," said he. Kate made no move to take it. "The money belongs to that man," said Kate. "He earned it, and it's his."

"He'll never live to spend it," muttered Loudon. "You're mistaken. You will let him go."

"Djuh know he's a boss thief? Listen, Tom, listen to me, please. It it hadn't been for me Rudd wouldn't have been here today. Listen, he was leaving this country. He's quittin' the 88 for good. If he had gotten away he'd never have troubled again the Lazy or Dogsoldier ranches."

"It's the law, Kate—the law of the range. You know that." "Very well. But suppose we have Rudd come here here a moment. Oh, I'll make him talk. Rudd's a prisoner. He can't get away."

Loudon shouted to Laguerra. Rudd, his arms still elevated, walked toward them slowly. Loudon kept him covered. Kate dismounted, leaving the reins on her horse's neck.

"Tom," said she, "give me that money, please. I'd like to give it to him myself."

Loudon handed her the handkerchief. Kate, holding the horse by the bit, stepped forward and stood beside Loudon.

"Here he is," said Loudon. Kate whirled, seized Loudon's gun hand in a desperate grip and jammed her thumb down between the hammer and the firing pin. Her left arm encircled his waist, and her head was twisted sideways under his chin.

"Run!" she panted. "My horse! The money's in the saddle pocket!" Rudd was in the black's saddle thudding away at a furious gallop. Loudon strained to break the girl's hold without hurting her. Loudon's muscles suddenly relaxed.

"All right," he said, "he's out o' range." Kate loosened her hold on his waist.

"You pulled the trigger, Tom," said she, calmly. "My thumb's caught."

Loudon raised the hammer, and the hand fell away. The blood dripped on the grass.

He lifted her hand, placed her thumb to his lips and sucked the wound clean. When the edges of the torn flesh were white and puckery Loudon cut away part of Kate's sleeve and made a bandage of the fabric.

"Guess yuh'll be all right now," he said. "Yuh might 'a' got lock-jaw."

"You'll be leavin' us now, Miss Saltoun," observed Loudon, coldly. "I'll get yuh Rudd's pony!"

"Silently he led forward. Rudd's rawboned cayuse and held him while Kate mounted. She bowed her head and touched her horse with the spur.

"Where we goin' now?" Marvin inquired, uneasily. "To the Cross-in-a-box," replied Loudon. "I want Jack Ritchie to see yuh. An' don't get talkative about how Rudd got away. I tell yuh flat if yuh open yore mouth about that lady yuh'll be committin' suicide."

"Dat ees right," declared Laguerra, staring fixedly at the range boss. "Only you an' Rudd was here I see nobody else."

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLIS PHILLIPS

At supper, later Cherry saw to it that Jack was next to his divinity, as well as that Jane and her Mr. Sils were perfectly happy. It was heavenly to be festive again. The dimples came and went in her cheeks in a distracting way. Ned, from his corner of the table, Arline at his side, noted proudly that his wife was the loveliest girl in the room.

Of course he had danced a great deal with Arline, as she was more or less of a stranger in their midst, and as such had to be especially attended to. Arline had outdone herself tonight. She had on a shimmering Nile green gown that enhanced her charm to the utmost. She looked like a Lorelei.

Supper once over, the dancing was resumed, and from time to time Cherry caught fleeting glimpses of Ned drifting by with Arline on his arm. The girl seemed alive with spirits, and Ned hovered about her most of the evening. Several times he tried to get a dance with his wife, but that was always engaged, Arthur Hamlet saw to that.

"Let's sit out a dance now, Cherry," he suggested. "It's lovely in the moonlight, and I'm so warm, aren't you?" wiping his perspiring brow as he talked.

As they sat down in their secluded nook once more, Cherry wondered where her Ned might be. He, too, had disappeared some time before. Arline was also missing. Well, if they could play at that game, so could she. Arthur was infinitely attractive and adoring, no doubt of that.

Cherry leaned back happily against a bush and then jerked her head about to disentangle her hair which had been caught. Arthur stooped over and gently pulled the twig out of it and as he did so she felt his breath on her cheek and forehead. "There, that's fine," she said, as she felt herself freed.

"But, Cherry, it's fallen, some of that lovely hair of yours. Let me fix it," and Arthur, with a hand that trembled lifted a stray lock in his fingers and tried to push it into place. His fingers caressed her neck tenderly and then Cherry felt two ardent lips on hers and found herself looking into Arthur's burning eyes as he kissed and kissed her. She lay quiescent in his arms for a moment. His lips stopped her breath and she felt strangely bewildered.

Then, with an effort, she pushed him from her and said reproachfully, "Arthur, how could you spoil everything like this?" For answer he took one of her hands in his and poured more impassioned kisses upon it as the he was offering his all to her in the act.

Breathless, trembling, and prostrated, he knelt before her as all unknown and unheard by either of them, Arline and Ned stole by towards the house.

TAYLOR PRODUCTION, FALL SHOWING

"SACRED AND PROFANE LOVE" UNUSUAL TITLE--FILM GOSSIP

(By ESTHER WAGNER)

PROMINENT in the list of fall celluloid attractions is William D. Taylor's production, "Sacred and Profane Love," in which Elsie Ferguson is starred. This is the role which Miss Ferguson interpreted with such marked success on the speaking stage a few seasons ago.

The story is an unusual one. Carlotta Peel, living with her maiden aunt in Bursley, England, is surrounded by mid-Victorian ideals and is brought up according to the strict beliefs of her aunt.

At a concert she meets Emille Diaz, noted pianist, who falls in love with her. Another man, Frank Ipenlove, is also in love with Carlotta, but he is married.

Diaz, the pianist, is an absolute addict and as time passes he becomes a physical wreck, while Ipenlove, despondent at the news of his wife's death, kills himself.

How Carlotta finally brings about the regeneration of Diaz and finds happiness is the culmination of this most unusual of stories. Arnold Bennett, who remember, wrote the story for the stage. Conrad Nagel has the role of Diaz.

IN WHICH WILLIAM FARNUM SHOULDERS MUCH TROUBLE

LIVING some particular star or possessing an ingrown dislike for one, has much to do with the ultimate opinion of said star's pictures. So, having no particular love for William Farnum, may have a lot to do with our not being crazy about his picture "His Greatest Sacrifice." But we'll be fair and let some of his admirers judge this trip. Here's the why and wherefore.

A successful writer and his wife, who has a famous voice, live happily with their small daughter, until the wife is bitten by the ambition bug and steps out to be a great opera star. Not to be hampered by a mere husband and child, she leaves them and goes abroad, where she makes good, the while her husband is seeking a life term for murder, and the daughter is being educated in a boarding school.

Comes the time when her manager substitutes a new and younger opera star, which leaves madame out in the cold. Thoughts of home come to her; she will find her dollings and make it up to them; but the daughter spurns her offer of aid.

"Just as you refused to recognize me as your child when I most needed a mother's care, so I refuse to recognize you as my mother. You are not even fit to have the name."

The father is paroled for good behavior and thru devious ways, all the workings of some imaginative scenario writer, the trio are reunited and you know the rest, as well as I do.

"His Greatest Sacrifice" is at the Sigma theatre today and over Saturday.

BESSIE BARRISCALE AT LYRIC IN "THE BROKEN GATE"

GIVE you my word, we were not at all anxious to see this "Broken Gate," because we had a hunch that we would have something old and dragging put over on us. Not so, Isabel! If ever a picture had action, this surely has. It's improbable, of course and fairly agonizing in parts; everybody weeps most of the time, but the final shows everyone smiling happily and if you can stand the dramatics up until that point, you're happy, too.

What is a broken gate? We wondered where they got that title until a foreword explained everything. It seems every action we do or contemplate must pass thru a gate, which we call our Conscience, and this conscience tells us whether or not the action in question is right or wrong. Sometimes we turn a deaf ear to the Conscience; other times we listen and are saved. In this particular instance the woman heeded not her conscience, which seems to have brought about all the trouble.

Aurora Lane lived in a small village, an industrious milliner. Unknown to the town-folk, of whose biting tongues she was often the target, she supported a son and sent him thru college. He comes home, at the age of 20, meeting for the first time the little woman who had scribbled for so long in order that her boy might have an education. Follows the confession of his parentage, their poverty, etc. and the boy swears that he will not rest until the man who had brought so much misery to his mother should be made to answer.

THE ORPHEUM TO OPEN WITH HAUKE'S SUNSHINE REVUE

AS ITS premier attraction at the beginning of the new season, Manager Shaw, of the Orpheum theatre, has secured the well-known Hauke's Sunshine Revue, which opens a week's engagement here next Monday.

In addition to the already popular Hauke entertainers, including the Four Musical Kings, Helen Kennedy and the Beauty Chorus, the revue has added new members, additional musical talent, gorgeous costumes and scenery. It is complete in every way and promises patrons of the Orpheum an unusual treat during its stay in this city.

SHORT FLASHES:

Leslie Cuneo, who used to appear in villain roles, will be featured in a series of eight five-reel pictures. The first will be "Blue Blazes."

T. Roy Barnes will be Thel Clayton's leading man in "Exit the Vamp."

Alec B. Francis, Goldwyn character actor, will appear with Gloria Swanson in "The Great Moment" and

A murder happens about this time and for various reasons the boy is held responsible. More trouble for the over-burdened mother, but after fights, destruction and a few additional murders, the air is cleared and all the culprits are apprehended. You're surprised, too, at the outcome, tho the producers give you enough hints of their identity to make it easy.

Miss Bessie Barriscale, as the mother, does good work, tho she seems a trifle young for such a mature portrayal. And the boy who plays her son is splendid, tho for the life of me, I can't remember his name. Sam DeGrasse is good as the lawyer, while Marguerite de la Motte, who furnishes the romance, is sweet and appealing.

At the Lyric today and Saturday.

AT THE FAUROT:

"The Witching Hour" with Elliott Dexter in the leading role, is the Faurot's feature attraction today. Added features.

Lon Chaney, character actor, is starred in a new U two-reeler, "The Empty Gun."

Doris May will be starred by Robertson-Cole.

Largest Soap Makers in the world revolutionize washday

Sensational new product saves you hours of back-breaking rubbing

NO more of the cruel strain that women have been subjected to for centuries!

Those hours of rubbing you used to do got the clothes clean but it was a terribly long, hard job.

Soaking has always meant less rubbing.

This marvelous product, Rinso, is a perfect combination of pure, cleansing materials, that loosen and dissolve the dirt from even the heaviest pieces of the weekly wash, without injury to a single fabric. You do not have to rub any but the most badly soiled spots such as collar bands, and cuff edges, and those just lightly.

These statements would be hard to believe if they were not made by the makers of Lux.

Lux made it possible to launder silks, woolsens and all delicate fabrics without injuring them. Now this new product, Rinso, makes it possible to do the regular weekly wash without hours of back-breaking rubbing.
